Happenings Here, There and Everywhere, Past Present and Future

Last week the Alberta Government ordered between $1,200 and $1,500 worth of scrapers and grading plows from Jas. Rennie, the local implement agent. This looks as if there will be considerable road work done in the Chinook district this summer.

Mr. R. R. Dunn was in Calgary last week to see his little daughter who is receiving medical treatment. Friends will be sorry to learn that Mr. Dunn's little girl is progressing very slowly.

A. Ashdown Marshall, eye-sight specialist, of the Marshall Optical Co., 231 8th Avenue W., Calgary, will be in Chinook Thursday, May 26th. Those desiring his services will kindly make appointment at the Acadia Hotel. An excellent chance to have your eyes fitted to proper glasses.

Mr. Lorne Proudfoot made a business trip to Calgary last week.

Now's the time to print that car. We have Effetto Antipoint Top Dressing and Body Polish. See us for prices—The Service Garage, Chinook.

J. Pitman, who has been working on Mr. J. A. McColl's farm near Coltholme, was arrested last week by Const. Torpey on a charge of grand larceny. A Sheriff from Idaho Falls is on his way up to take Pittman back to the States for trial on the above charge.

The Ladies Card club held last Tuesday evening, found Mrs. H. Meade the winner by 151 points. The prize was a Pyrex dish. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Jas. Rennie.

Jas. Pettigrew is laying a cement floor this week in the Service Garage.

A try-out game of the local ball players took place on Tuesday night. From the way the "regulars" performed it looks as though we are going to see the best baseball season of all times this year. We are informed that the main feature of Tuesday's game was Charlie Wylie making second base! Get him signed up while you have the chance.

Takes Formaldehyde In Mistake

Mr. C. E. Evans, of Big Stone, had a very close call last Monday when he drank formaldehyde mistaking it for water. Mr. Evans was coming to town with a load of wheat when he got stuck near McColl's farm, and going over to get assistance, noticed in a wagon a jug containing what he thought was drinking water, took a drink. Immediately realizing that it was formaldehyde that he had drunk rushed to the house where he was given an emetic which removed the poison. He had a chance to get into the system.

An Opportunity to Put Chinook on the Map

The Reeve of the town has received a letter from the Dominion Auto Trail Association. This Company is engaged in marking the highways of the various provinces, under a system of colors. Now the Calgary to Saskatoon Trail passes just south of town and could be easily marked through the town, thus assuring us that all travellers passing East and West on the blazed trail would have an opportunity to see our town.

The members of the Chinook Board of Trade (B) should take up this matter with the Council, if they want Chinook on the map.

What is a Recommendation Worth?

That depends very much upon who gives it. For instance, we recommend Ames Holden "Auto-Shoes" as the cheapest mileage you can buy.

And we know a lot about tires. We have to in our business.

Hence our recommendation should carry some weight, apart from the fact that we are benefiting to some extent by your custom.

We know that if you buy once, you will buy again—because you will find that our recommendation saves you money on mileage.

We will give you a guarantee with Ames Holden "Auto-Shoes" too—a guarantee that protects you against any defect in material or workmanship which may arise at any time in the life of the tire. A Constructive Colonization Project

On more than one occasion during the past two or three years, in fact ever since the signing of the Armistice turned men's thoughts and energies from war back to the pursuits and activities of peace, thoughts have appeared in this column laying emphasis upon the importance, yes, the urgent necessity, of a large increase in the number of living upon and producing from the land. The view has been advanced without the slightest fear of successful contradiction that the only solution for Canada's huge national problems is to be found in increased population; that is, increased population definitely and actively engaged in the primary industry of producing new wealth out of the undeveloped natural resources of the Dominion—the chief, and most easily worked of which are the now uncultivated but fertile agricultural lands of the West.

It requires no great far-sightedness to arrive at the above opinion. Any intelligent student of conditions and affairs cannot help but see it, nor need he be a very deep student at that. Canada's billions of public debt occasioned by the war can only be carried, and ultimately liquidated, through the taxes paid by the people. But taxes cannot be paid unless people have money, and money is not made merely by the trading in existing commodities. New wealth must be created, and it can only be created by production from, first the land, and secondly, from the other undeveloped natural resources—the mines, the forests, the fisheries, etc.

Every new settler placed on the present uncultivated lands of Western Canada means—

1. An additional producer of new wealth.
2. Another taxpayer to carry a portion of the public debt whether that debt be represented by the national war bill, (b) provincial, (c) municipal, (d) school.
3. Increased ability and power to provide needed facilities such as schools, highways, bridges, telephones and other public services.
4. Closer settlement, with doctors, hospitals, nurses, churches, postal services, and all the advantages of modern community life nearer at hand.
5. An assurance of an increased volume of traffic for railways and other transportation systems, and consequently largely increased revenues and decreased operating deficits, and at the same time reduced passenger and freight rates.
6. As the natural and inevitable sequel to the above, added value to every acre of land in the whole country.

If the settlement of the now uncultivated lands of the West means the bringing of these decided reforms and advantages, and the solution of now heavy pressing national problems of finance and taxation, surely all Governments, public bodies, and people generally, should not merely welcome, but unhesitatingly support anything, and everything carefully designed, and organized with the avowed object and sole purpose of encouraging and promoting colonization and settlement for productive use of the uncultivated lands of this country.

In the daily and weekly press during the past week there appears the full text of a memorandum recently submitted to the Provincial Governments of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta by the managing director of the Western Canada Colonization Association, in which are set forth the studied convictions of that organization as to the steps it is now necessary to take in order to turn the tide of immigration of experienced agriculturists to Western Canada. That memorandum is deserving of the careful study of every man in these Western Provinces who has his own, his neighbor's, and his country's success and prosperity at heart.

It is to be borne in mind that the Western Canada Colonization Association is not a money-making, dividend-paying concern. By its charter from Parliament it is precluded from making any profits for itself. Rather it is like the Exhibition Association in these Provinces—a body of men who have contributed money with a public spirit and a broad vision. Exhibition Associations cannot pay dividends; their work is the fostering and developing of their respective communities. Men who take a share of stock in an Exhibition Association and give of their time and effort to the success of such undertaking, do so with the knowledge that their interest and reward can only come through the advancement and increased prosperity of the whole community. In that way, and that way only, can they reap profit from their money and their work.

So, too, with the Western Canada Colonization Association. Only in its case the whole West is its field. The plan outlined by this Association is not fantastic, but plain and simple and practical. It is asking no money grants from Governments; only for practical co-operation through legislation and Government departments. Its plan certainly appears to be worthy of a trial, and to merit the support of Governments in the first instance, and sympathetic co-operation by the people once the plan is officially adopted and the machinery for the carrying out of the scheme actually set in motion.

Alberta Crop Prospects

Believed That Area in Wheat Will Be Larger Than Last Year.

"Fewer acres and more bushels" is the phrase by which the aims of the farmers in Southern Alberta this year are described by a Lethbridge paper which estimates that the area in crop in the surrounding country will be from fifteen to twenty-five per cent. smaller than it was last year, but that considerably more summerfallowing will be done this year than any previous year.

Any reduction in the area in crop in the southern portion of the province promises to be offset by a corresponding increase in the central and northern portions. Indeed, it is too early yet to say definitely that the acreage in crop in the south will be smaller than it was last year. From several points reports have come of larger areas being seeded.

It may be safely said that the area in wheat will be larger than it was last year. There are two reasons for this. One is that the season opened much earlier than it did last year, thus giving the farmers plenty of time to sow their wheat. The other reason is the more favorable market for oats and other grains.

More and larger areas are being planted to sunflowers on farms in all parts of the province and many more silos will be built this summer. Winter wheat and winter wheat, where it has been planted has come through the winter in good condition, and the range grass is making a good start.

Pumpkins From Irrigated Land.

Pumpkins and squash of several varieties have been grown successfully for four consecutive years on irrigated land near Brooks, Alta. During the past fall two carloads of green Hubbard squash and smaller pumpkins were shipped to the Calgary market. These gave a net return of over $200 per acre.

British Columbia Orchards.

An orchard survey recently made by the Horticultural Branch of the B.C. Department of Agriculture shows the total area of land under cultivation at 19,991 acres. Of this amount 12,915 acres are situated in the North Okanagan territory, while the balance, 7,076 acres, is situated in the south.

Allies Have Not Yet Solved Secret

Mechanism of "Big Bertha" Has So Far Eluded Discovery.

The secret of the mechanism of "Big Bertha" and the three long-range guns of that type which the Germans are known to have possessed, has so far eluded discovery. The Peace Treaty stipulates that these, just as any other German guns, should be surrendered, but up to now the Germans have refused to obey. A grant of 500,000 francs was made by the French Government for research work, with a view to discovering the secret, but down to the present nothing is known by the Allies, apparently, as to how these guns were made. The efforts are continuing, however, and the work is now in the hands of the French naval artillery department.

Prince of Wales Makes Ideal Camera Subject.

As an adored screen personality the Prince of Wales has eclipsed the leading favorites in England. It is told in London of an actor who for the second time "Official" Tom Film from theatre to theatre, and admitted that he had spent over £2 in three weeks in seeing "that darling boy." A favorite with the topical cinematographers, the Prince is certainly an ideal camera subject. He is always perfectly "natural," and his prowess as a horseman—glimpsed again on the screen would do credit to a serial champion.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a fine tonic medicine, harmless and certain in their action, which is to build up the blood and restore vitality to the run-down system. For growing girls who are thin and pale, for pale, tired women, for old people who feel feeble in strength, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are an ideal tonic. Thousands have testified to the benefit derived from the use of this medicine, among them is Mrs. William Gail, Hantsport, N.S., who says: "Before I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I was so weak and run-down that I could hardly do my own work. I often suffered from headaches and was very nervous. I then began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I can truthfully say I have found them the best medicine I have ever taken. You may say that I am a little old, but I will advise other sufferers to take these pills."

McDonald Has Now Discarded Cane And Walks Well As Ever

"I just simply think there's nothing like Tanlac, for the way it has restored my health is simply wonderful," said Kenneth McDonald, well-known hardware dealer, residing at Oak River, Man., while in Winnipeg recently. "Three years ago I commenced suffering with rheumatism, and then a year later rheumatism struck me in my legs. My knees were so stiff in the mornings I could not bend them, and I certainly did have a time getting my clothes on. In a few months my legs and arms got to hurting terribly, and I was so crippled up I couldn't get around without the aid of a cane. I was hardly able to carry anything, and suffered from gas bloating and pains that were simply terrible. The pains kept me awake most of the night.

"About two months ago I started taking Tanlac, and three bottles of this medicine made me feel like a different man. I've finished my sixth bottle now, and haven't a trace of rheumatism, or stomach trouble left with me, and have gained twelve pounds in weight. The cane I used to walk with, stands up in the corner of my room now, for I can get about so well I never need it any more. Tanlac is beyond doubt the best medicine in the world."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

A SQUARE DEAL FOR THE SETTLER

Is the Aim of the Western Canada Colonization Association.—It Can Be Realized Through Co-operation from the Prairie Province Governments.—Legislation Necessary to Assure Success.

(By J. W. Dufor, Editor-in-Chief of the Manitoba Free Press)

In times of difficulty and distress the dependence of all sections of the community upon one another is revealed far more clearly than in periods of abounding prosperity when the need for co-operative action is not so apparent.

At the moment Canada is faced with a problem of immense magnitude, how to induce the rapid and successful development of the vacant lands in the West in proximity to the railway lines.

The old immigration movement—the combined result of many independent agencies, among them the Government, railways and land companies—was pretty well over before the war came to its complete stop to enterprise of this character.

Now the factors of the problem are so changed that the old agencies, if they could be revived and set back to work again, could not renew their old successes. Everything is changed; the character of the settlers required, the nature of the land must be made to secure them and the machinery by which they can be transported and placed in locations where their presence will be advantageous to themselves and of benefit to the country.

The immigrants most needed are people who will come with the purpose of securing farm homes for themselves; they must have a moderate amount of capital now that there are no free homesteads, and experience in farm work, or at least aptitude for it is desirable. There is no lack in the world today of people of this type to whom the prospect of a home in Western Canada, if it could be brought before them, would make an irresistible appeal just as there are available for them the very homes they desire if some method can be found to bring the vacant lands and the home seeker together.

The Western Canada Colonization Association has come into existence in the expectation that it will be able to render a great service by devising and carrying out plans by which the desirable immigrant in other lands—over the sea, or south of the line, will be secured, brought to Western Canada, placed on suitable land and given such encouragement as may be necessary to bring about a contented and prosperous settler.

The Western Canada Colonization Association will devote its energies primarily to inducing the right kind of settler to come to Canada. It will do this work in co-ordination with every agency existing or hereafter to be called into being to do the same purpose. The more the better provided they work towards a common object to co-operate to this end.

The association is not a land selling agency. It has no interest in any particular district and is not concerned in the disposal of privately held lands. Yet it is very obvious that if settlers are secured for Western Canada they will require land. If they can get the land they want at the price they can afford to pay, in a locality that meets their wishes, the plan will work. After the first thousand settlers are successfully placed the current of immigration will set in steadily and will never cease until the vacant places in the West are filled.

But the successful placing of the settler after he is secured, is the very foundation stone of the enterprise, lacking it the movement must fail. The Western Canada Colonization Association has asked the people of Western Canada to attend to this matter, of such vital importance to them, through the agency of their own Prairie Governments.

In the memorial presented to the Governments of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta by the association the nature of the proposed plan is drawn. Briefly said, the government is asked to create a Land Board for its province which will list all vacant lands with prices fixed for two years and issue maps and literature showing the location of this land and giving the facts as to the price and character of the soil. Provision is made insuring a reasonable valuation and owners will be asked to name agents empowered to make sales.

If this plan is carried out the Western Canada Colonization Association and every other immigration agency will be put into the hands of the operating outside of Canada. The hands of the prospective immigrant the information which will make his decision to come to Western Canada a business investment instead of a highly speculative venture. He will be able to decide before hand the district to which he is to go and he will know that when he arrives he will be able to get the land he requires without delay and without uncertainty. The road will be straight before him and the goal will be in sight. The beneficial effect upon immigration of an arrangement like this which will place the incoming settler under the assurance of considerable treatment and a square deal, will be beyond calculation. It will remove, too, from the whole movement the taint of the suspicion that it is a device for selling land for speculators and put it in its proper light as a great co-operative enterprise. It is a device for settling the empty spaces of the West with all the incalculable benefits that will follow, in which every interest and every industry will share. The local municipalities, the railway lines, the merchant and railways, the provinces, the cities, and, in fact, the whole Dominion.

Polish Coup In Upper Silesia

British Fire on Poles; Trying to Occupy City.

Oppeln, Upper Silesia.—Col. Bond, British control officer at Gross-Strehlitz, reported to British headquarters that he opened artillery fire on 2,000 to 3,000 Poles attempting to occupy the city.

The Poles brought up light field pieces and were replying. Col. Bond, who has approximately 200 Italian troops, also reported that he probably could not hold out long.

London.—Dr. St. Hamer, the German ambassador here, presented a note to the Foreign Office protesting against the Polish coup in Upper Silesia, as an apparently concerted effort to take the province by force, and refusing all responsibility for the situation and its consequences.

The note has also been communicated to the other allied governments.

Plunges Eighty Feet Into River

Employee of Ottawa Public Works Department Has Narrow Escape.

Ottawa.—A miracle occurred here when Joseph Leclerc, employed by the Public Works Department as a driver, went over the big dump at the foot of Bank Street with a horse and dump cart. He fell about 80 feet into the Ottawa River and escaped with a few bruises and a severe shock to the nervous system.

The miracle does not end there, for the horse, after turning end for end once or twice and landing like a ton of brick, with the smashed wagon, in the river, calmly swam from the scene of the accident to a boat house nearly a mile down the river, where he was brought safely to terra firma.

Farmers May Reorganize

Group in Manitoba Legislature Will Likely Be Smaller.

Winnipeg.—The Independent Farmer party of the Manitoba Legislature, which has seldom voted as a unit in the session just closing, may be re-organized. William Rybison, leader of the group, said that its future would be decided immediately following the close of the session.

Report is that when the Legislature next meets there will be a smaller group of Independent Farmers, and that some of those who have been nominal members of the group for the past few months will be aligned formally with other groups with which they have voted.

Miraculous Escape of Airman

Falling From 4,000 Feet Pilot Brought Plane Down Safely.

Maxwell, of Hamilton, pilot of a Curtiss Seaplane, saved from certain death the lives of himself, the mechanic on the plane, Romeo Vachon, and a passenger, William Bowden. All three escaped with slight bruises and a shaking up.

The plane ran into an air pocket at 4,000 feet and went into a tail spin, dropping swiftly. Captain Maxwell managed to bring the plane out of this dangerous position, but he was then so low the machine crashed into trees.

Fall In Plan To Break Jail

Prisoners in Toronto Are Now in Solitary Confinement.

Toronto.—As a result of an attempt at jail delivery on a large scale, four prisoners are in solitary confinement at the Toronto jail. Window bars and bars of cell doors were seen through and the cuts hidden by blackening soap. While making his rounds one of the guards noticed two prisoners at the window instead of being in bed, this leading to an investigation.

Nine other prisoners are said to have been implicated in the attempt to escape.

Scotch Immigrants Are Good Type

Practically All State They Have "Friends in the West."

Montreal.—The steamship Cassandra from Glasgow, the sixth liner to come by the St. Lawrence route this season, has docked here. She had close upon 1,000 passengers and brought the total Quebec-Montreal passenger list up to approximately 7,000 for the opening week of navigation.

Officers and shore officials were quite agreed that the type of immigrant from Scotland this year is of a higher standard than ever. Practically all of the newcomers stated they had "friends in the West."

Nothing to Indicate the End of British Coal Strike

Resolution Adopted Prolonging Government's Emergency Powers.

London.—Beyond the fact that the members of the Parliamentary Labor Party and other members of parliament are trying to resuscitate the conference between the mine owners and miners, there is nothing to indicate a basis for the optimism of J. H. Thomas, general secretary of the Railwaysmen's Union, who has predicted the end of the coal strike within a week.

The House of Commons by a large majority adopted a resolution prolonging the Government's emergency powers and adding new regulations relating to restrictions of tram services, pleasure steamers and lighting, and the extension of summer time, if found desirable. In the course of the debate, J. R. Clynes, and other Labor members, urged the Government to withdraw its regulation on the ground that this would facilitate negotiations.

Home Secretary Short, on behalf of the Government, argued that the risk was too great. He said it might become necessary to import coal if the Government needed the powers to deal with the possibility that the Triple Alliance would refuse to handle imported coal.

Allied Demands In Ultimatum of Council Sent To Germany

German Cabinet Has Resigned

Decision Reached After Receiving U.S. Reply On Reparations.

London.—A telephone message received from Paris gives a Berlin despatch saying that in view of the situation that arose in consequence of the reply of Secretary of States Hughes to Germany's counter-proposals on reparations, the German Government unanimously decided to resign.

Chancellor Fehrenbach informed President Ebert of the cabinet's decision, whereupon the president requested the ministry to continue to deal with current affairs, which it consented to do.

Calgary May Have Tong War

Oriental Quarter Upset Over Gambling Raids.

Calgary.—Chinese—National League and Masons are giving the city police and the police court magistrate no end of trouble these days. While the miniature Tong war to date has not brought about any fatalities, still there is reported to be a dangerous under-current running in the Oriental quarter of the city, which may be some serious any moment. Gambling clubs supported by both factions have been raided by the police lately, which is said to be one of the reasons of the present tension.

Terrific Storm Sweeps Atlantic

Fears Felt For Safety of Ships, Damage Over Million.

New York.—New York City and neighboring seacoast towns were buffeted by what is said to be the most severe wind and rain storm in the last ten years. The storm paralyzed trolley and train service in outlying districts, entangling damage estimated at more than $1,000,000. Staten Island, jutting out into the sea was the hardest hit. The raging sea swept over bungalows, along the beaches, and shipyards along the north shore were forced to remain closed. Trees were uprooted and hundreds of telegraph poles broken off, blocking highways.

The weather bureau reports that the gale, which reached 75 miles an hour during the night had somewhat abated, but was still strong enough to toss ships helplessly out of their courses. At Rockaway Point the water from Jamaica Bay was thrown 150 feet back from the beach, flooding hundreds of summer bungalows. At Far Rockaway, the surf swept away scores of yachts and motor boats.

Warsaw.—On account of conditions in Upper Silesia the frontier with that district has been closed on the Polish side, it has been announced. The Warsaw newspapers declared the Polish Government was taken completely by surprise by the uprisings and that it is making frantic efforts to restore calm.

Did Not Receive S.O.S. Call Says Public Records

U.S. Transport Attracted to Japanese Vessel By Smoke.

Seattle.—Forty-three of the 65 survivors of the Japanese freighter Tokuyomi Maru which brought to the water's edge off the Oregon coast with a loss of eight lives, were in Seattle hospitals suffering from shock and exposure. The remaining 22 survivors reported themselves already recovered from their experiences. Only one body of the eight dead has been recovered.

Capt. Kerr, master of the Buford, declared his ship had not received an "S.O.S." from the Tokuyomi Maru but was attracted to the stricken vessel by sighting the column of smoke.

"We had just been having boat drill," Capt. Kerr said, "when I saw the smoke in the distance. We were 12 miles distant then, and 55 minutes later were on the scene."

"There were constant explosions and with every explosion the flames shot 100 feet in the air and hales of cotton were hurled 200 feet high."

Capt. Suzuki, master of the Tokuyomi Maru said the fire started in the coal bunkers and was due, he believed, to spontaneous combustion.

The ship carried 1,000 tons of coal, 700 tons of fuel oil, and a big cargo of nitrates, lumber and cotton.

Sir Robert Borden Claims Valuable Documents Are Neglected.

Ottawa.—Better provisions for the care of public records was urged on the House by Sir Robert Borden, former prime minister, this afternoon. Sir Robert quoted from the report of a royal commission to show that documents of priceless value were stored in dark rooms and passages in inaccessible places; in places where depreciation was bound to result. Many were in buildings not fire proof. Decision had been reached to have a fire proof building erected, but the work was interrupted, and the work was not carried out.

The Prime Minister, the leader of the Opposition and the leader of the Progressives were as one in recognizing the need for every care of historical documents.

Object To Amusement Tax

Kingstons Veterans Claim They Have Privileges.

Kingston, Ont.—Strong objection is made by the Army and Navy Veterans of this city to payment of the amusement tax. The veterans have decided to challenge the right of the Ontario Government to levy such tax upon army and navy veterans and to make a test case to the courts, if necessary. It is claimed that the veterans have distinct privileges under the charter granted by the act of parliament, and that the Ontario Legislature cannot destroy these privileges.

THURSDAY, May 12, 1921

Mr. E. Madden, Superintendent for the International Elevator Co., returned to Chinook last week. Mr. Madden is pleased to be back again and that this part of the country looks good to him, after travelling extensively through Alberta. He says that there are districts in Alberta that are much worse off than right here and if he had to make a choice it certainly would be here in the Chinook district. We like Mr. Madden's optimistic spirit, which reminds us of the prophet of old, when he said, "Come thou with us and we will do thee good."

Mr. Madden's optimism is not without grounds, for with the amount of moisture that has already fallen into the ground and the beautiful warm weather, everything points to a prosperous year. Farmers report that there is more moisture in the ground than there has been in the past three or four years.

A TRUE FISH STORY

While in Drumheller last Friday we saw exhibited in the local hardware store a sturgeon, which was caught in the Red Deer river, weighing sixty pounds and was five feet and ten inches in length. It is said by the people of Drumheller that four years ago a 24-pounder was caught, and on another occasion a big one five feet and two inches was landed.

We understand that the Chinook Council intend grading the streets this summer, and before anything is done we would like to offer a suggestion. The council of Drumheller have graded their streets with red ashes from the mines and when this gets packed down it looks like a cement road. Why not the Village Council write the authorities at Drumheller and see what it would cost to have a couple of car loads of these ashes shipped in and put on the roads here?

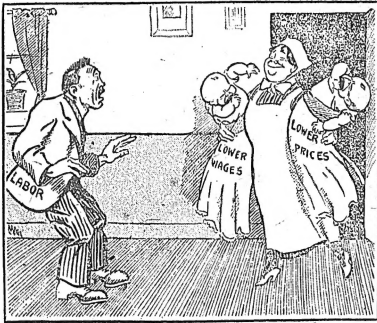

RED CROSS CAMPAIGN

Modern science has found that a great many of the diseases of mankind are preventable, and before the war great progress had been made in arresting the spread of them, according to local Red Cross officials. But the war stepped in and diverted the attention of medical men from the the work of arresting and preventing disease to binding up the wounds of men broken in battle and assisting those who were not mortally wounded to regain their health as speedily as possible.

Medical research work had demonstrated that typhus was almost extinct, typhoid was being rapidly stamped out of civilized countries and smallpox was becoming infrequent.

The active campaign of the Canadian Red Cross includes much educational matter for residents of the Dominion that will prevent such disasters as those mentioned above from gaining a foothold. Many diseases result from unsanitary conditions and a too careless disregard for the things that bring good health and happiness.

From June 5 to 11 the Canadian Red Cross will institute a membership campaign all across the Dominion, in an endeavor to have

PRESS ASSOCIATION HAS BEEN FORMED ON THE GOOSE LAKE LINE

Publishers Given a Royal Reception at Drumheller

The publishers of newspapers on the Goose Lake line, between the Saskatchewan boundary and Drumheller, gathered at Drumheller last Friday and formed the Goose Lake branch of the Alberta Press Association. E. G. Quick, publisher of the Plaindealer, Youngstown, was elected president, and J. D. S. Barrett, editor of the Delta Times, was elected secretary-treasurer; vice-president, G. C. Duncan, of the Drumheller Mail. The Executive Committee are: C. J. Porritt, publisher of the Drumheller Review, and C. A. Adist, of the Munson News, together with the president, vice-president and secretary. The following committees were also appointed: Advertising and Subscription Committee, H. E. Cummer, of the Drumheller Review, and H. G. McCrea, of the Hanna Herald; Job Printing Committee were E. G. Quick, the Plaindealer, Youngstown, and Robert Smith, of the Chinook Advance.

During their stay in the "Coal" city, the publishers were given a great time. In the morning they were taken by automobile around the town and shown the places of interest, visiting several of the mines. Mr. J. H. Eakin, president of the Board of Trade, and the secretary, T. S. Branson, very kindly drove the members of the press to see the Monarch mine, which is one of the largest of the twenty-two mines in operation in the Drumheller district. The owners of this mine have built nice homes for their employees as well as a beautiful school.

By courtesy of the superintendent, Miss Kate Brighty, and Mr. A. S. Williams, Secretary Treasurer, the publishers were taken through the Drumheller Municipal Hospital. This hospital is one of the best equipped municipal hospitals in the province. It is beautifully situated on the banks of the Red Deer river, and has forty-two beds, and can be increased to accommodate sixty beds. It has three operating rooms and is fitted with the Ex-Ray appliances.

To finish the day's splendid program, the publishers were taken to the White House hotel, where a grand banquet was given, at which were present members of the Drumheller Town Council including the mayor, Mr. W. D. Gordon and Mr. H. A. Brown, secretary-treasurer, and representatives of the Board of Trade.

Experienced Farmers Say Tractor Proves Inferior To Good Draught Horse

The draught horse cannot be replaced by the tractor on the farms, and the horse is becoming more popular every day as is evidenced by the fact that a large number of the older tractor users are going back to the horse for the major part of the farm power, says G. B. Rothwell, Dominion Animal Husbandman. "In the city the larger concerns are going back to the draught horses, using the motor trucks only for light work and for rapid delivery.

"The draught horse has two great centres of activity, the farm and the city. While there is and will be much private experimentation with tractors on the farm, this fact is becoming more and more apparent when it comes to the question of home-produced, home-repaired, adaptable, foot-proof and, last of all, economical heavy trucking and transportation power, the relation of the tractor to the horse will be more and more that of a qualified assistant and less that of a substitute. This fact will take some time in the learning and will be the result of much individually acquired experience. The fact is stubbornly persistent, however, that the older tractor users, who, after all, have had the experience and paid for it, are coming back to the draught horse for the major part of farm power. Both he and his fuel are home-made. His by-product has a steadily appreciating value. When there is a better appreciation of the fact that the quality of the work-horse on the farm and his condition or ability to get into harness and down to hard work in the spring—is one of the greatest factors in farm efficiency, there will be a great stride toward more economical production. If our farms were all tilled with tractors and our tractors received as poor care and preparation as do our horses (in general), for spring work, Belgium and France would now be establishing relief funds for the starving population of Canada. If the horse has any one fault it is that he is a little too adaptable, a little too dependable, as compared with the uncompromising machine.

"But the demand for the good draught with weight and quality is not alone for farm and country work. It transfers from time to time that large city concerns, having to do with heavy trucking, transportation and haulage generally, return to the horse after thorough trial of the truck. Not that the tremendous use of trucks is in any danger of falling off; not that for rapid delivery over long distances and good roads the horse will ever again be a competitor of the machine; but these firms have simply been shown that for heavy "overload" work from the standpoint of general economy and adaptability there is a type of horse that will have to take care of a certain part of the city hauling problem. And this is the type of horse that the farmer can grow.

The American Influx

Canada May Depend On Increased Immigration From U.S.

The exodus from Canada, which the late Sir Richard Cartwright was so much given to bemoaning in the years when he was an advocate of commercial union, has been very definitely reserved. Last year 23,300 individuals came in from the United States, bringing with them $3,335,138 in stock and effects and $10,487,085 in cash. This is a movement upon which Canada may depend, in probably swelling volume; for the attraction of cheap land and promising conditions cannot fail to lure settlement from a country which is steadily approaching the saturation point.—Ottawa Journal.

To Protect Migratory Birds.

A bill to amend the migratory birds convention has been given second and third readings in the House. Hon. S. F. Tomin, minister of agriculture, explained that the purpose of the bill was to raise the fine for the destruction of migratory birds of British Columbia, where the provincial law provided for a fine of $300. Dr. Tomin added that some of the birds which came under the act were worth more than $100 apiece.

Investigating Cattle Embargo

British Commission Will Decide Whether Abolition Is Advisable.

The arrangements for the official inquiry into the embargo on imported livestock in Great Britain have now been completed. Lord Walsby will be chairman of the commission and the other members will be Lord Askwith, Sir Algernon Firth, Sir W. Peat and Sir Arthur Shipley. Instructions to the commission are as follows: To enquire into the admission into the United Kingdom of livestock other than for immediate slaughter, to ascertain whether abolition of the embargo would cheapen meat and to decide whether it is advisable, having regard to the necessity for protecting livestock already here from disease and restoring their numbers after the losses during the war period.

The commission was decided upon after the embargo on Canadian cattle coming into Great Britain had been an election issue, by the Daily Express, Lord Beaverbrook's paper and the Labor party in the election at Dudley at which the Minister of Agriculture, Sir Arthur Boswell Griffith was defeated by the Laborites when he (the minister) sought reelection on accepting a portfolio. In that election the Labor party's speakers and the Express argued that the embargo increased the cost of living.

Crop Conditions In Alberta

Farmers Report More Moisture Than For Past Four Years.

Crop conditions in Alberta are very favorable and seeding operations are fully up to the average, both in the area sown and in the forwardness of the season; is a resume of the first report this year of the provincial department of agriculture.

Since the opening of spring, seeding has continued throughout the province with very few interruptions. In Southern Alberta, conditions are rather better than usual and farmers report that there is more moisture in the ground than there has been in the past four years. It is expected that seeding in the neighborhood of Medicine Hat will be completed by the 15th of May. Fifteen to twenty per cent of the wheat in the Lethbridge area was sown by the end of April, while east of Calgary sixty per cent of the wheat seeding is finished.

In the Red Deer and Lacombe country operations are not as early as usual due to the extra heavy precipitation, but the Edmonton district is further ahead than is customary and work has been going on steadily for the past three weeks. In Northern Alberta the people are hard at work, with an early season.

Grass is growing well in the south of the province and livestock throughout has come through the winter in good condition, requiring only half the feed used the previous year.

Will Try Out Gold Claim.

Northern B.C. Thought to Be Richer Than Klondike.

Placer gold mining on a large scale than usual is the programme of an Edmonton concern operating in Northern British Columbia, where experimental drilling is to be done this summer. The Ingenuka Gold Mining Company is planning to start operations on its claims along the Ingenuka River and has just sent its first detachment of the season's crew.

An expert placer gold driller from California, and an experienced gold panner have been engaged for the season, and negotiations are now pending for the engagement of another mining expert who will come from San Francisco to take charge of the company's operations. A Keystone drill now on Rocky Mountain portage will be dismantled and taken to the mine.

The summer's drilling will be for the purpose, it is stated, for determining the amount of gold and platinum in the gravels of the Ingenuka from the surface to the bed rock. The company has holdings of forty-five miles along the river, beginning about forty miles from its mouth. Some prospecting has been done in previous years, and the surface indications have shown values of from three cents to $4.90 per cubic yard of gravel, according to assay.

Officials of the company state that a thorough try-out of its claims will be made this summer, and believe that they are on the eve of the richest gold find since Klondike days.

Canadian Fish For Army Of Occupation

Quality Much Better Than That Supplied During War.

(By John McCormac, Winnipeg Free Press Correspondent)

The British army in Germany is being supplied with Canadian fish as a result of a contract awarded by the War Office to Major Hugh Green, late director of fish supplies to the Canadian army. It is understood that Canadian fish may later appear in the British naval menu.

The quality of Canadian fish, both canned and frozen, now being shipped to England, is much better than some sent during the war, which is alleged by British importers to have given Canada packers a bad name. A leading member of the canned goods section of the London chamber of commerce told your correspondent that of 25,000 cases of salmon which were sent as a gift to England by Canada during the war, some was given to German prisoners, and much of the rest was so inferior that it had to be thrown away. "The gift was well meant, but a large part of the shipment, which was supposed to be pink salmon, was really chub," said this business man, who is a member of one of the largest London importing houses. "There is a good market here for pink salmon, but for the credit of Canada, she could not try to send us any more chub."

Co-operative Creameries In Saskatchewan

Development of Dairy Industry Makes Interesting Story.

Some details in connection with the working of the Co-operative Creameries in Saskatchewan tell an interesting story of the development of the dairy industry in that province.

The organization has twenty-five creameries, five cold storage plants, and three poultry killing stations. During the past year a $300,000 plant was built in Regina for use as a central station and is one of the most up-to-date dairy buildings in Canada. Thirteen of the creameries were originally constructed by the Dominion Government before the western provinces were formed. When the latter was brought about, these were taken over by the provincial government, and four others built. In 1917 the Saskatchewan Co-operative Creameries, Limited, was organized, and the creameries were turned over to the farmers themselves to run, and they were brought under the one control.

Last year the association did a business amounting to $3,000,000, and has paid eight per cent on the capital stock for the past three years. In addition, in 1919 they paid a patronage bonus of two cents a pound butter fat to those who dealt with the creameries. At any point at which the farmers wanted to establish a co-operative creamery, they subscribe capital, twenty-five per cent, of which has to be paid up, then the government supplies the money at 6 1/2 per cent interest, which the creamery pays back as it is able.

Auto Industry Twenty-two Years Old

This Month Marks the Business Anniversary.

This month will mark the twenty-second anniversary of the first sale of a motor vehicle in the United States, because it was in April, 1898, that an American manufacturer made the sale of an individual which was the forerunner of the sale of 1,800,000 more vehicles during the last year. The development of this wonderful industry has occurred within the recollection of the present generation.

Heavy Travel In North.

In view of the enormous amount of passenger traffic which is travelling over its lines, the Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia Railway found it necessary to put additional equipment into service to handle the passengers northbound. Among the passengers on the last train bound north was a party of South Americans interested in all possibilities of the north country.

A Newspaper's Value

Contains More Interesting Reading Than Average Book of Fiction.

Mr. Robert Blatchford, of England, has been counting up how many words one gets in a newspaper for a penny, and how many for the same sum in the average novel. He makes it 63,000 in the paper, and 757 in the novel. You get only one story in the novel, whereas in the paper you get scores of interesting articles or paragraphs about real events and living men and women. You also get literary articles by well known writers or public men on topical subjects. Moreover, any of the articles and sketches in the newspaper are better written than in any fiction except the best. Mr. Blatchford expresses surprise that people who will give seven and sixpence for a novel will grumble at threepence for a first-rate newspaper.—From the Christian Science Monitor.

When To Plant Sunflowers

Results About Equal From Seeding On Spring or Fall Plowing.

During the past summer, the department of agriculture of Alberta carried out a series of very interesting experiments as to the manner of seeding sunflowers so as to produce the heaviest yields. In view of the great interest that is being taken in this new oil crop throughout the Canadian prairie provinces and the north-western states, the results obtained will be of great value to numerous dairy and stock men.

It has been found that the difference between seeding on spring and fall plowing is very small—fall plowing having a slight advantage. To get the best results the land, too, should be fairly dry. The experiments showed that the highest yields were obtained from land sown about May 31st. For these tests plots were sown at seven-day intervals from May 14th to June 10th, the crops harvested increasing from 30.87 tons to 35.60 tons when planted on May 31st, decreasing to 31.99 tons to the acre on June 10th.

The heaviest yields were obtained when drilled in rows thirty inches apart. In districts, however, where the rainfall is not so heavy during the growing season, it might be advisable to have the rows slightly farther apart. The plants should be thinned out with a hoe from four to eight inches apart.

Several Kinds Of Shorthorns

Some Pedigrees Do Not Trace To Imported Stock.

A straight Scotch-bred Shorthorn is one that traces through both the sire and the dam to cattle bred in Scotland, or their descendants produced in this country without the admixture of any other blood.

Scotch-topped Shorthorns are the produce of Scotch bulls and cows of other blood lines.

There are several kinds of Shorthorns which might come under the breeder's term of "ordinary Shorthorn cattle." Shorthorn cattle descending from cattle of the earlier importations to this country would probably come under this heading because they are now considered plain bred, that is, in comparison to the Scotch cattle. Then there are some Shorthorn cattle whose pedigrees do not trace to imported stock.

First One Will Be From New York To Chicago.

Regular airship passenger lines will soon be in operation between the principal cities of the United States, Lieutenant C. A. Tinker, of the United States naval reserve force, stated recently, in announcing the formation of a $50,000,000 airship corporation at Washington.

The first line will be put in operation between New York and Chicago, early in the spring of 1922, he said. The line will then be extended to San Francisco and other lines will follow as new ships are built and put into commission. The present programme calls for ten huge ships, Lieutenant Tinker said.

Sacrifices Life To Save Others

Air Pilot Descends on Railroad Tracks Rather Than in Crowded Street.

Rather than attempt a landing in a street—a course which would have endangered the lives of many persons—Air Pilot T. J. Christensen, 31, of Chicago, sacrificed his life when he was forced to seek a landing in downtown Cleveland because of engine trouble.

Unable to see because of a heavy fog, the pilot fell 200 feet to the Erie railroad tracks of Scranton and University roads and, buried beneath the wreckage of his machine, was burned to death when the gasoline tank exploded, setting fire to the debris.

One Hundred Years Ago

Present Year Celebrates Centenary Of Interesting Events.

Among the interesting events of the year 1821, and of which the present year celebrates the centenary, is the first ascent in a balloon filled with coal gas. The inventor of the method of filling the envelope of a balloon was Mr. Charles Greene, and he first went up in a balloon so filled on July 21st, 1821. Gas was then being first used for lighting purposes. It was in that year that Paris adopted coal gas for illumination. Westminster Bridge had already been lit in this fashion as early as 1813.

The great event of the year 1821 in England was the Coronation of King George IV, which took place on July 19th. In the following month Queen Caroline, died. The two had been married for twenty-six years.

Another big event of the year was the death of Napoleon Bonaparte, which took place on May 5th at Longwood, in St. Helena, where he had been living in exile since his defeat at Waterloo.

The Bank of England celebrates this year the centenary of the completion of its splendid building in Threadneedle Street. The building was originally founded in 1732, but it was the famous architect, Sir John Soane, who in 1821 completed the present premises.

Oldest Work Of Fiction

Written 3000 Years Ago And Is In British Museum.

The oldest work of fiction is thought to be "The Tale of Two Brothers," written 3,200 years ago by the Theban scribe Emman, librarian of the palace of King Menephtah, the supposed Pharaoh of the Exodus. The tale, it appears, was written for the entertainment of the crown prince, who subsequently reigned as Set II. His name appears in two places in the manuscript; probably the only surviving authentic of an Egyptian king. This piece of antique fiction, written on 19 sheets of papyrus in a bold hieratic hand, was purchased in Italy by Mme. d'Orbigny, who sold it in 1857 to the authorities of the British Museum, where it is now known as the d'Orbigny papyrus.

Raise Turkeys On Hoppers.

Turkeys and Guinea fowls are voracious insect eaters. Would it not be a good plan for the farmers in the grasshopper infested areas of the west to buy, rent, or import all the birds of these breeds they possibly can, instead of poisoning the bugs?

Robert Browning had completed a volume of poems by the time he was twelve.

The future of Canadian farming will be based on livestock to a greater extent than it has been in the past. An increase in the total number of animals as well as a gain in the carrying capacity of each hundred acre farm is to be expected in the natural course of events.

Several difficulties are met with in the effort to build up the herds and flocks and keep them at the maximum producing capacity. The first of these is the uncertainty of markets, a handicap which is likely to be moved before many years. The second is the periodical failure of pastures making necessary sacrifices of immature animals and breeding stock.

It has been estimated by ranchers in the west—that the same holds good to a considerable degree in the east—that from five to ten acres of pasture land is required for each mature cattle beast for one year. With land that is valued at fifty to one hundred and twenty-five dollars per acre the returns on the investment cannot be very satisfactory.

The stock owner must get more feed per acre and must be assured of a supply every winter and at all seasons of the year. He must be insured against the times of scarcity which are bound to come when dependence is placed on grass alone. Three different classes of crops can be provided from which a choice may be made to suit particular conditions. These are: 1. Perennial grasses or alfalfa; 2. biennial or winter annual crops such as sweet clover or fall rye; 3. annual crops such as corn, oats, millet and rape. Leaving aside for the present the pasture crops it is well at this season to plan for the growing of feeds which can be used to supplement the pasture in the late summer and fall or for storing in the silo. One of the most widely grown emergency fodder crops is oats or a mixture of oats and peas. Mixing one bushel of each and drilling at the rate of two and one-fourth bushels per acre early in the spring on a firm seed bed should produce a ton and a half to two tons of good hay.

Millet may be sown broadcast or with a grain drill. The latter requires less seed and gives a more even stand. Two and three pecks per acre are the usual rates of seeding. Fifty to sixty days are normally sufficient to produce hay with millet; so planting may be delayed until July; however, May and early June seeding are preferred.

Then there is a large area in Canada over which corn can be grown early as a fodder crop. It is liked by all kinds of stock and is especially valuable for dairy cattle. It can be utilized either with or without a silo though for best results a silo is desirable. Along the northern limits of the corn belt the early plant varieties will be the safest and will usually give the greatest food value per acre. Alfalfa and sweet clover are being used more extensively every year both for fodder and for pasture. The particular adoption of these have been discussed frequently in these columns and there is no doubt that they will be more widely grown. The alfalfa excels in food value and in yield per acre; the sweet clover has hardness as its chief recommendation.

Egypt's Gratitude

Fortunate Because Destiny Was In Hands of England.

Egypt is now sure that she will live free, and will restore her past glory of the days of the Pharaohs—a fact she never dreamt of realizing had it not been for the greatness of England, not by fleets, armies and money, but by pure principles and high morals. Egypt must, therefore, consider less seed and gives a more even stand. Two and three pecks per acre are the usual rates of seeding. Fifty to sixty days are normally sufficient to produce hay with millet; so planting may be delayed until July; however, May and early June seeding are preferred.

Mining Coal For Domestic Purposes

The mining of coal for domestic purposes, but not for sale, on crown lands in the province of Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Yukon, Northwest Territories and the railway belt in British Columbia is now permitted, according to regulations issued by the department of the interior. The maximum area which may be mined on one permit has been placed at one acre, and only one permit can be issued at a time.

THE TEST

By E. L.

Written Exclusively For This Paper

When Mary returned from boarding school to the white cottage where her mother lived in the little country town about sixty miles from a large city, she was just nineteen, vivid, strong and beautiful.

Her mother, who had struggled through the years in a vain battle with poverty looked her over approvingly, appraising her youth, bloom and vigor as so many assets in the marriage market.

It was to this end that Mrs. Valentine cultivated the acquaintance of James Holcomb, a blase man of the world with keen, humorous, discerning eyes, but with a heart which was old, much older than the fifty years to which he privately confessed.

And so trying to call back the youth which age, in an unprofitable life, always regrets, James Holcomb, attracted by Mary's fresh bloom and beauty assiduously courted her. And as he showered his attentions upon her and plied her mother with gifts Mrs. Valentine smiled approvingly.

"Thank God," she thought, "Mary shall never know the meaning of grinding poverty, and perhaps it will come to an end for me."

But Mary had already given her heart. Since she was a tiny, white frocked little she had been friends with Tom Daly who had grown into a tall upstanding six foot young man of twenty-three. Tom was a market gardener. To see the two saunter down the Main Street of the little town on a warm summer afternoon, she seemed and fresh and lovely and upright, well-made and vigorous was a sight upon which the Gods might smile. And Mary as she saw the white fire of the glance which he sometimes bent upon her knew that he offered her the most acceptable and beautiful thing in the world, the first love of his young manhood.

But he was poor and Mrs. Valentine bade her sternly to put him out of her life. She was only nineteen and her heart could not be touched by the devotion of a clever man of the world like Holcomb who knew so well how to handle the heart of a woman. Then as her mother told her sordid story of the struggle she had had with poverty and of the lifelong dread it had been that she, Mary, would follow the same path, the girl told Tom Daly on a soft, September evening as the stars twinkled wistfully down on them, half obscured by the clouds that they must part. She would give no reason and Tom was young and inexperienced. He did not know that her heart was breaking, as he strode away with youth's impetuosity, angry, sore and broken.

In a few weeks Mary's engagement to Holcomb, the millionaire, was town talk.

"Have you seen her ring?" the townsfolk asked each other. It was a wonderful stone they all said; came from Egypt and was in a strange setting. They were going away to live gossiped the neighbors, a grand match for a poor girl. Of course he was a little old for her, but then he was such a smart man and so well to do.

"Better be an old man's darling, etc.," croaked an old dame and all her cronies nodded assent.

But ah, had they heard the heart of Mary, theirs would have been a different story. For Mary's heart was not in the approaching wedding; it was over at the little cottage where Tom was. Tom said no word, but he had changed. His shoulders drooped a little, and his face showed a grey look heretofore quite foreign to him, and in his eyes instead of the white light of his first devotion, there shone a reckless glare.

Mrs. Valentine, Mary and Holcomb were to spend a brilliant winter season in the city, during which time Mary was to be introduced to society and then her marriage was to take place in the spring.

It was after a marvellous ball one evening that Mary came to a realization of her heart. Holcomb as he bade her "good-night" drew her gently towards him and kissed her on the cheek. She recoiled and shivered from head to foot, and as they drove homewards while her mother talked she was very silent. For the rest of the night she tossed sleeplessly on her little bed and in the morning wide-eyed and wakeful she made her escape.

News regarding Mary had not failed to come from the city to the little town, and her triumph and beauty were common town talk. Only Tom Daly did not discuss the matter; only he remained silent when the others chatted. Some of them knew of his wound and some were sorry, but the general opinion seemed to be that he had aspired too high; that Mary could never have been happy with him but in the stubborn pride of his youth he thought he could have made her far happier than she could ever be with her elderly suitor. But he would make no move, nor say one word he thought doggedly. He was poor and Mary wanted riches. If she had only been willing to wait, but no, she didn't and he felt that his life was wrecked.

That evening he sat smoking quietly before his little open fireplace. The shadows were falling outside and everything was quiet and still. He often sat like this late into the night, conjuring up pictures of Mary as he knew her and loved her. Mary as he heard of her in her triumph in the great city, and most darkening thought of all, Mary as that other man's wife. To outsiders he was stern and non-committal, almost unnaturally so for such a young man, but sorrow is a great teacher. Now, however, he laid his pipe on the table and let his head sink into his hands.

It was thus that Mary saw him as she crept up the garden path and looked in at the lattice window. When she saw him she opened the door and rushed in crying.

"Tom! I couldn't do it, I couldn't keep it up. If it gave me so much misery for a few months just to be engaged it suddenly came to me what carry it on through the years, and so a heart-breaking thing it would be to me. Mother is at home now. I couldn't wait until morning though. I had to come to see you tonight."

And for the first time Tom held his heart's desire in his arms, and the light that never shone on land or sea shone on both their youthful faces.

And so instead of a wedding in the big city, Mary and Tom were very quietly married at the parsonage. They would be very poor Tom knew and he could not help a pang as he realized how much Mary had given up for him, but he determined that never had man worked as he would work to make it up to her. Then they both received a great surprise in the shape of a letter from James Holcomb containing a gift of $100,000.00 as a wedding present and asking them, in their happiness, to sometimes remember him.

And the cottage of the Dalys' contained much of human happiness. Mary insisted upon living there for a year. At least because she knew that Tom had dreamt of her as being the Queen of that little spot.

And bound for a beautiful island in the summer seas on a white decked steamer, James Holcomb sat alone with his memories, not of Mary alone, but of a first love thirty years before.

King Gives Coal to Help Poor.

The King's solicitude for the poor people of Windsor, who are in difficulties owing to the shortage of coal, was demonstrated when the mayor of Windsor received a telegram, stating the King had authorized the transfer of 25 tons of coal from the stocks of Windsor Castle to the coal merchants of the town for household use.

"Your Teeth"

HABIT

Copyright, 1921, by Rea Proctor McGee.

Habit is simply cultivated instinct.

It is just as easy to cultivate good habits as it is to cultivate bad ones if you start right. The habit of cleanliness is one that stays for life, because it is comfortable and gives a feeling of respectability.

Every child that has been taught to take care of its wonderful little body, to wash hands and face and ears and teeth and take baths and to know the happiness of clean clothes, will carry that habit through life.

The personal habits that we form in our first twelve years are the ones that mould our personality. That is one of the reasons for beginning good habits early, particularly with the teeth. Children's mouths should be examined every three to six months. All cavities should be filled and every stain should be removed.

If temporary teeth are allowed to decay, food will pack in between them and make the gums sore.

Then the food will be chewed upon one side of the mouth until the other side becomes tender and the poor little fellows try to mince their food with their front teeth. It is impossible for anyone to masticate—that is, to chew his food—properly, with his front teeth alone.

If the food is not well chewed and mixed with saliva, digestion is very difficult. A great deal of energy is wasted in trying to digest food that is sent to the stomach in clumps.

Nature tries to develop every child into a healthy adult. Every ounce of food that goes into a child's stomach should be converted into energy, but instead of making energy, unchewed food only makes more work.

Aside from all of the pain and poison from pus and the long list of diseases that follow decayed and abscessed teeth, good digestion would be worth every effort that we could make to keep the mouth healthy.

Children with good teeth will grow up into men and women with good teeth because the good tooth habit grows. Did you ever know a healthy, happy person with a poor digestion?

Rotting Alive

In Russian Camps

The Gentle Methods Adopted by the Bolsheviks.

According to an appeal for aid sent out secretly from Moscow, a hundred thousand educated Russian citizens are rotting alive in the concentration camps of Russia. The greater number are women and children, and their life is described as continual torture and suffering. They are not accused of any crime. They are kept as hostages till the end of the civil war.

There is reason to believe that the statement is not exaggerated. A Canadian officer, who had seen a good deal of life in Russia in recent times, said recently that conditions are appalling. The condition of the educated classes is especially deplorable. Even when they are not deliberately tortured, they are the victims of Bolshevik tyranny. The most humiliating tasks are reserved for women of the greatest refinement. Even apart from the necessity of securing food, life is made intolerable for sensitive people. And there is a good deal of deliberate torture. This Canadian informant spoke of one case that had come under his own notice. A young girl, the daughter of an old Russian officer, was fastened to a table by a nail driven through her tongue. Pencil and paper were given her that she might reveal the hiding place of her father. To further encourage her she was flogged. When our informant last saw her she was in a most pitiable condition, without a tongue, and unable to eat or speak.

Red Cross has not forgotten the crippled, the blinded, the helpless, or the simply unsettled remnants of war, in our hospitals and throughout our land.

She remembers them, and has the resources and devotion to care for them, but she also has a new and a broad way to do for which your endorsement is now asked.

The membership enrolment is a nation-wide reminder to everyone who has ever helped the Red Cross, or been helped by it—and who has not—to renew their allegiance to its sacred emblem, identify themselves by their membership with its effort to better the condition of humanity at home, throughout our Dominion, all over the world.

Lloyd George's Chief Secretary

Possesses Wonderful Memory and is Remarkable Person.

J. T. Davies, the British prime minister's principal secretary, is a remarkable person. He possesses a wonderful memory, and is never at a loss for a fact or document. His room is next to the cabinet room, and it is a mystery how he gets through the enormous amount of correspondence with which he has to deal. He is continually invaded by visitors, calling to ask questions, or awaiting their turn to interview Mr. Lloyd George or the cabinet. In addition to this, Mr. Davies usually has to deal with about 100 telephone calls a day. Any ordinary man would be driven mad. He is a popular and well-known figure in political and diplomatic circles.

"Say It With Flowers"

This Gives the Shy Man a Chance Says Minister of Agriculture.

bashful young men once a debt of gratitude to the horticulturalist, judging from the address of Dr. S. F. Tolmie, Federal Minister of Agriculture, at a recent banquet of horticulturists at Ottawa. The minister of agriculture said: "The horticulturists, in addition to refusing influence which they have effected, have given to the bashful young man an opportunity to approach his lady love with greater safety and assurance than he could in olden days, because, under present conditions instead of having to go through the usual platform that was adopted by our forefathers, he can 'Say it with flowers.'"

Want Right to Select Husbands.

The rapid strides which Japan is making toward adoption of Western civilization find expression in an agitation to let women have more to say about the selection of husbands. Such matters are almost entirely in the hands of parents, who select husbands for their daughters, who obediently marry whomever they pick out. A recent article in a prominent Japanese magazine points out that Japanese men never find any difficulty in getting mates, women must have money, and training of one kind or another before they can find husbands.

Canada's Western Banks Better Than American

Extensive Inquiry Shows They Give Better Service.

The announcement of new legislation in Manitoba to advance the interest rate on loans under the Rural Credits Act from 6 to 7 per cent. may be taken as an indication that it is being realized that the fine theories of public banks, at rates below those prevailing in the money markets under the magic government control, are being exploded. In Saskatchewan the realities of the situation have been appreciated by Hon. C. A. Dunning and in Alberta the Hon. Mr. Mitchell has advised against following the Manitoba example. British Columbia, likewise, shows little disposition to go ahead with the provincial bank idea.

That there is a growing desire to bring about a better public understanding that farm credits are based on business principles, is indicated in an article by C. W. Peterson, directing officer of the Farm and Ranch Review, Calgary, in which the "point is made that the banks, through their branch managers, have been giving better service in Western Canada than has been the case with the banks to the south of the border; this statement is made after a somewhat extensive inquiry into the banking situation on both sides of the line."

German Firms Have Accepted Order For 500.

The Russian Soviet Government has placed an order for 500 locomotives with German manufacturers. This is the second order from Russia for locomotives. The previous order was for 100 locomotives, and practically has been filled, having been paid for in advance. Payment on the present order has not been made in advance, however, and the Russian method of payment is yet to be negotiated, but the order has been accepted by the German manufacturers. Four firms—the Krupp, Borg, Hartmann and Loewe—are members of a pool which has signed contracts to deliver the locomotives.

Your Red Cross Calls

Red Cross to-day is the vision of a wonderful ideal. Faith and effort can carry it to a glorious reality.

Its peace-time mission is to save lives and to help the suffering, exactly as it was on the battlefield.

It can ward off disease from your child and mine and the child that is yet unborn and make the world a better place for him to live in. It can ward off pestilence and contagion from your own community and so protect us all. It can help weld all the people of our country and of all the other countries into the common brotherhood of sympathy that is so necessary now if humanity is to keep to the path of progress.

Red Cross has not forgotten the crippled, the blinded, the helpless, or the simply unsettled remnants of war, in our hospitals and throughout our land.

She remembers them, and has the resources and devotion to care for them, but she also has a new and a broad work to do for which your endorsement is now asked.

The membership enrolment is a nation-wide reminder to everyone who has ever helped the Red Cross, or been helped by it—and who has not—to renew their allegiance to its sacred emblem, identify themselves by their membership with its effort to better the condition of humanity at home, throughout our Dominion, all over the world.

When you could see with your own eyes that your son was in danger and could be helped, you did not hesitate. You can still see the dangers that surround him everywhere, if you will but look with the eyes of understanding.
